Welcome to Session 1

Introduction to Conscious Discipline®

SESSION OVERVIEW:

• Examine traditional discipline, reflecting on how we’ve disciplined in the past and why we have continued this pattern.

• Discover one value system that integrates the way we feel on the inside with the way we behave on the outside.

• Explore the mindset shift necessary to help us remain conscious, even in the most challenging moments.
If you are in a group setting, choose a partner for Session 1:

Session 1: Pre-Learning Survey

Let's begin with a little survey to help you measure your perceptual shift as you learn helpful, new information.

1. Connections with children lead to more cooperative behavior.

Introduction

You are in the perfect place, at the perfect time to discover the exact skills and perceptions you require to experience meaningful change.

We must be willing to make two vital shifts to ensure we experience and model healthy relationships with our children:

- Shift from trying to fix the child’s problem to healing our relationships.
- Shift the way we attempt to teach values by flipping the practice of “do as I say, not as I do” to “be the change you want to see in the world.”

Movement is essential. Standing up delivers 10 to 15 percent more blood and oxygen to the brain.

1. The brain is __________-seeking and __________-oriented.
2. Intentional face-to-face moments create __________ juice that includes:
   - Dopamine — “Yahoo!” Says, “Pay attention!”
   - Oxytocin — Bonds with others and builds social trust (moral molecule)
   - Opioids — Decrease pain

Connect

Enjoy the “Little Miss Muffet” I Love You Ritual with your partner or child. If you are using a partner, one of you will pretend to be the child and the other will be the adult.

The adult forms a tuffet (or footstool) by gently making a fist.

Little Miss Muffet, sat on a tuffet.
The child uses two fingers to sit on the tuffet.

Eating her oatmeal today.
The child pretends to eat oatmeal.

Along came a spider, that sat down beside her,
The adult uses the other hand to dramatize a spider crawling down to sit beside the child’s Miss Muffet fingers.

And said, “Have a good day!”
Shake hands.
Reflect

What did you experience during this moment of connection?

Transformational Change

Fear separates us into “us” and “them.” Conscious Discipline unites us as “we.”

3. Conscious Discipline is based on what type of change?

____ Traditional _____ Transitional _____ Transformational

- Traditional change means we’re going to do the same thing, but do it better, cheaper and faster.
- Transitional change means we’re going to stop doing Behavior A and start doing Behavior B.
- Transformational change requires us to change our mindset as well as our skill set.

Conscious Discipline is an infinite journey into transformational change.
There is no end.

4. Conscious Discipline asks us to make a mindset shift from “Do as I say, not as I do” phrases, actions and intentions to “be the change __________________________________________.”

Reflect

Which approach listed above is most closely related to your upbringing? How was that for you and how does it impact you today?

Examining the Way We Teach Values

We learn our values through the human interactions we see, not the words we are told.

What human interactions do you see throughout your day? ______________________________________

What human interactions do your children see throughout the day? ____________________________________

Typically, our actions teach two value systems:

- When the world is going your way, behave politely and pleasantly.
- When the world is not going your way, it’s okay to complain, name-call and behave in other unhelpful ways.

What are your thoughts about this?

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

How do you believe you teach values to your children?

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

What values do you teach when you are in an upset state?

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

We cannot teach values through lectures.

We cannot learn values through someone telling us about them.

We learn our values through personal experience and by watching the human interactions around us.

The interactions children see around them teach them what to value and how to build relationships. Humans possess a social brain; we cannot live without relationships.
A Compassionate Culture of “We”

Conscious Discipline asks us to change our perception of conflict and how we respond to conflict in order to create a compassionate culture of “we,” instead of “us” and “them.”

Reflect

When I hear the word “discipline,” I think of:

_____________________________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________________________

To discipline and to teach are the same acts.

Teaching is about giving. Control is about getting.

Do you tend to please others or try to control everything?

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

If you are in a group setting, share an example of this with your partner. If not, write an example below.

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________________________

If you try to direct children’s behavior through control, fear and manipulation, these will become their core strategies and they will learn to use these same strategies on you.

5. Connections on the ___________________ with other people build _________________________ on the inside.

6. These connections wire our brain for ______________________and ____________________.

7. What are the four ingredients necessary for connection?

Our interactions with children literally shape their brains.

The Seven Powers of Conscious Adults help us stay regulated enough to access the Seven Skills of Discipline.

Old job description:

My job is to make children behave and their job is to make my job hard.
New job description:

8. My job is to keep it ______________and children's job is to ________________.

9. To do this job, I must shift from punishing children to __________________children.

Are you willing to spend time becoming conscious of your intent in regard to discipline?   YES   NO

Describe what this will look like in your world. ____________________________________________

Make a Commitment

Think of the most valuable piece of information you heard during this session. What are you willing to begin implementing right away? Take out your Reminder Mini-Poster for this session and write your commitment in the space provided. If you are in a group setting, verbalize this plan to your Commitment Buddy.
Post-Session Survey

Then take a moment to re-read your answers to the Pre-Session Survey on page 4. Reflect on the transformational changes you’ve already internalized.
