

At Home Morning Meetings

Morning meetings set the tone for a successful day with connection, collaboration and an emphasis on social and emotional learning (SEL) skills. Morning meetings usually take place at school. But with schools closed in response to COVID-19, this guide shows you how to lead successful morning meetings at home—with a helpful Conscious Discipline twist.

In this guide “At Home Morning Meetings” by Conscious Discipline Certified Instructor Bailey Lewin, you’ll learn more about how you and your family can start the day with a morning meeting. You’ll learn how to unite, disengage stress, connect and commit, the four elements of a Conscious Discipline Brain Smart Start that primes the brain for optimal learning.

Additional morning meeting activities include wishing well, reviewing agreements, celebrating and more. As you read through this resource, click the images for videos and songs that accompany each activity.

Conscious Discipline Glossary:

- Brain Smart Start: Dr. Bailey’s Conscious Discipline Brain Smart Start consists of four activities designed to get children and adults in the optimal brain state for learning and problem-solving. These components include an activity to Unite, an activity to Disengage Stress, an activity to Connect and an activity to Commit.
- Commitments: Making a commitment promotes mindful attention and increases the likelihood of success while promoting self-regulation and confidence. You might have each family member choose a commitment at the beginning of the day. At the end of the day, everyone checks in with a “Yay, I did it!” or an, “Oops, I’m working on it.”
- Wish Well: Wishing well provides children and adults with a way to support one another and calm themselves. The process for wishing well includes taking three deep breaths, filling your heart with love, and then sending that love to another person. Wishing well generates an internal cascade of feel-good neurochemicals and hormones that boost positive feelings (and we could all use more of those right now!).

Peter, Peter Pumpkin Eater!

Peter, Peter Pumpkin eater
Had a friend he loved to greet.
Treated him/her with kind respect,
and in the morning hugged his/her neck.

Humpty Dumpty

Humpty Dumpty sat on the wall.
Humpty Dumpty had a great fall.
All the Queen's horses and all the king's men.
COULD put Humpty together again!

Three Nice Mice!

Three nice mice. Three nice mice.
See how they care, see how they care.
They hold both hands and give a shake.
Smiling together, good friends they make.
Then turning around for goodness' sake.
Three nice mice. Three nice mice!
