

You Did It! End-of-Year Certificate for Students

Rituals bind us together and mark important occasions in our lives. The “You Did It! End-of-Year Certificate” brings the Conscious Discipline concepts of noticing and unity to the traditional practice of giving end-of-year certificates to students.

This certificate is formatted to allow you to complete it by hand or type directly in the document. Whichever method you choose, you will use the space beneath the circular image to write a sentence or two about each student. Be certain to share a way the student contributed to the group, or a unique interest or quality the student brought to the classroom. Notice students’ spirit with the highest possible intent. Do not include things like physical attributes, grades or articles of clothing. For example, “Kendra was quick to help classmates who struggled with their math and kept us laughing with jokes she often memorized to share in class.” “Matteo often helped us remember to breathe deeply with our S.T.A.R. breathing when things got tough.” “Liam spent many hours imagining and drawing fantastic creatures in the art center.”

To complete by hand, print one certificate per student (preferably on cardstock). Fill in the blanks as indicated. If you wish to personalize the certificates further, you may glue a 2.5-inch diameter photo of the student or class overtop of the circular artwork in the center of the certificate.

To type directly in the document, open the PDF in Acrobat Reader. Move your cursor to the line you want to fill in, click and begin to type. When you have filled out the certificate, simply print (preferably on cardstock) and sign your name in the “Teacher” space.
